*The margin of error is a way of expressing whether the number of responses from a residential care facility was large enough to capture the entire range of opinions to each question or whether there was too much uncertainty because of a small number of responses. The margin of error measures the uncertainty of the estimates of "true" resident responses. The margin of error is calculated based on the size of a facility and the number of residents responding as well as some other factors. If the margin of error (amount of uncertainty) was greater than 10% or fewer than 2 residents responded, we did not report results for the facility. The margin of error used to determine whether results should be reported is based on a 95% confidence interval. A 10% margin of error means that if 55% of residents report being satisfied, the true value of resident responses lies between 45% and 65%.
